CREAM OF NEWS.

IF IT IS NEW AND TRUE THIS COLUMN HAS IT.

Tramps—Convicts—Held—Hunt—Fire—Clardy—Stone—James—Long—Breckinridge—Meeting—Sold—Painted—Politics—Sickness.

Ed. Cliborne's Reputation.

Mr. J. E. Cliborne, the auctioneer, went to Elkton yesterday to conduct a big lot sale for Mr. R. M. Conway, and will be in Bowling Green to-day and to-morrow similarly engaged. Mr. Cliborne has officiated at all of Mr. Conway's sales in this city, and with such success that the latter finds it to his advantage to take him with him to other towns. Good auctioneers are rather hard to find and having found one to his satisfaction Mr. Conway is acting wisely in swinging on to him.

Dangerous Illness of C. Uter.

Clemens Uter, the well-known dairyman, is dangerously ill with typhoid fever at his home near the city. He has been prostrated for more than two weeks and his condition is very critical. He was unable to find any experienced milkman to conduct his business during his disability and his cows have been taken in charge by Morris Bros., who are filling his orders for him. Mr. Uter has many friends and patrons to whom he has endeared himself by his honesty and fair dealing and uniform kindness, who will earnestly hope for his speedy recovery.

Work of the Troublesome Tramp.

Last Sunday night tramps built a fire near Dr. J. A. B. Word's fence, on his farm near Oak Grove, and by some means the fencing caught and several hundred panels were burned before morning. Dr. Word's loss is considerable. This is the Doctor's second loss by fire in the past few weeks, his tobacco barn having burned about a month ago.

He Didn't Draw Well.

Geo. W. Long, the Republican candidate for State Treasurer, made a speech Tuesday at the Court House to a very small crowd. He wasted his eloquence on two or three dozen hearers, mostly negroes. The reception given him in this "Republican stronghold," as the Rads love to call Christian county, was so cold that icicles formed on the Court House.

Robbed by Tramps.

The dwelling house of John Booth, who lives between West Fork and St. Bethlehem, was entered by tramps at an early hour Tuesday morning and a considerable quantity of valuables were carried off. Clarksville officers were notified, but at last accounts had not come upon the thieves.

Howell Property Sold.

Mr. John F. Allensworth has sold his dwelling, livery stable and blacksmith shop at Howell to M. D. Burnett, of Trigg county. Possession will be given Nov. 1. Mr. Allensworth advertised his property for sale in the KENTUCKIAN and the ad. secured him a purchaser in three days.

Breckinridge in the Second.

Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge has made three appointments to speak in this district, as follows:

Henderson, Wednesday, Oct. 30.
Morganfield, Thursday, Oct. 31.
Owensboro, Friday, Nov. 1.
Chairman Gary is making an effort to get him here one day next week and hopes to succeed.

Going Up Rapidly.

The brickwork on the Ragsdale, Cooper & Co. block is going up rapidly and will soon be ready for the second floor timbers. The old brick taken from the Montgomery house are being used for the inside walls.

Meeting at Little River.

A protracted meeting began at Little River Baptist Church near Pee Dee last Sunday and is still in progress with large crowds and growing interest. The pastor, Rev. A. W. Meacham, is assisted by Rev. C. E. Perryman.

Mr. Thos. S. Jesup Very Sick.

Mr. Thos. S. Jesup, the well-known transfer man, has been very ill since Saturday at the home of his brother-in-law, Mr. W. S. Davison. His malady is a dangerous type of stomach trouble.

James Jumps Pettit.

Ollie James tackled Tom Pettit at Bardwell one day this week and used up the Populist leader about as bad as he did Franks the other day. Ollie is one of the wheelhorses of the First district.

Stone at Cadiz Tuesday.

Capt. W. J. Stone is billed to speak at Cadiz next Tuesday, October 29th.

ONE OF DE MALHER'S GEMS.

A Beautiful Incident Related About John Campbell's Baby.

Those who read the letters which Colonel M. L. DeMalher sends to the Arkansas Gazette from Atlanta have fine entertainments. In one of his recent letters, says the Atlanta Journal, he relates this beautiful incident:

"Being constantly on the lookout for side lights to people who visit the exposition, and therefore to borrow for another use the dictum of the poet that 'all the world loves a lover,' an incident worth the telling came under the notice of the writer last night which more than anything in his experience proves also the fact that all the world loves a baby.

"To understand the significance of the incident it must be conceived that among the 800 to 1,000 guests daily at the Kimball are representative people from all parts of the world, and of all occupations, viz: Merchants, planters, lawyers, doctors, authors, bankers, manufacturers, railroaders and concessionaires, Americans, English, French, German, Spaniards, Mexicans, etc.

"The throng in the rotunda, the band and the hub-bub of voices were at their greatest height when of a sudden the crowd parted, leaving a broad open way from the entrance to the hotel counter, up which came a little tot in white, probably two years old. A true little queen, to whom was accorded a triumph greater in its significance than ever was rendered to a Caesar.

"The effect when her presence became generally observed was remarkable. The band played coincidentally a grand march, the crowd of guests craned their necks to witness her entry, talking ceased abruptly, and the sunny haired, blue eyed little maiden winning innocently from every soul present such homage as royalty might well envy.

"It was the same when the father with the little one at his heels departed. The way was opened for them broader than before, each man nudging his neighbor to give way to the little sovereign, when to the delight of every one she kissed the little hand repeatedly, saying as she walked down the line: 'Bye-bye.'

"But the best thing was the influence she left with us all. Everywhere over the great room some one could be heard telling others some thing pleasant of the little visitor's baby ways and looks. And for fully an hour afterwards, not only was their talk less noisy but it was observed that when a speaker made a 'bad break' in his language he was sure to pull himself together suddenly and look around to make sure that the baby queen was not in hearing. Thus proving not only that all the world loves a baby but also the fact that there is a great force behind the truth, when it is said that 'a little child shall lead them.'

"We were all better for having had the little one in our midst, and if wishes may be horses on which she shall ride hereafter, it is to be doubted if even a child of royalty could hope for brighter days than her liege subjects in an instant fashioned for her."

The Journal has discovered the baby queen whose appearance at the Kimball House furnished the pretty incident described by Colonel De Malher, of the Arkansas Gazette. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Campbell, of Hopkinsville, Kentucky. Fannie is the baby's name.—Journal

All Three Held Over.

The Marshall of Crofton arrested Frank Howard, Ed. Sternberge and Fred Kenner, all white, Monday on a charge of burglary. They were placed in the town calaboose, but two of them, Howard and Sternberge, made their escape. Kenner, who is only about 16 years old, refused to go, preferring to stand his trial. The two men were recaptured Tuesday near Dawson and returned to Crofton Wednesday. The trio were tried by Esq. Geo. H. Myers and held over until Circuit Court. Their bonds were fixed at $100 each, failing to give which they were brought here and jailed. The men had in their possession a lot of clothing, cutlery, pistols and a gold watch, all believed to be stolen property, as some of the clothing was identified as belonging to parties around Crofton. Howard claims Indiana as his home. Kenner says he is from Henderson and Sternberge claims no particular place as his home.

Perry Not in a Peck of Trouble.

The Republicans have nominated Mr. R. A. Peck to oppose Mr. D. R. Perry for councilman in the Third Ward, but with no earthly hope or prospect of success. There are 122 Democrats and 54 Republicans registered in the ward. Perry's election is about as sure as any future event can be.

Sam Frankel's Cloak Opening.

Sam Frankel will have a fine display of cloaks, wraps and jackets, under the direction of a representative of one of the best houses in the United States, at his store next Monday. See his conspicuous ad. on the 5th page.

BOY—PISTOL—INQUEST.

LOOKED IN THE BARREL OF AN UN-LOADED PISTOL.

Same Old Story of "Didn't Know 'Twas Loaded"—Lewis Watkins Killed by a Bullet Hole in the Neck—It Was an Accident.

Lewis Watkins, nicknamed "Crip" and "Sook," was killed at 6:15 yesterday morning in the waiting room at L. L. Buckner's livery stable on Virginia street.

Watkins, Sam Boyd and Joe Price, all colored hostlers, were in the room at the time. Mr. Buckner, the proprietor, was in his room across the stable. Two other hostlers were in the stalls in the rear.

"Crip" was addicted to drink and it is supposed he was more or less intoxicated. He came in at 11 o'clock the night before and was still drowsy when he got up yesterday morning. He was sitting by the stove, half asleep, and Sam Boyd was sweeping the room. His pistol was in his hand and he was carelessly pointing it about the room when Boyd said, "Sook, put that gun up or you'll hurt somebody."

Watkins replied, "Taint nothin' in it," and raising the barrel looked into it. At the same instant a report was heard and Watkins rose to his feet, staggered to one side and fell in the doorway of a small rear room. Mr. Buckner came at once at the report and found him still gasping. Death ensued in about five minutes.

Coroner Allensworth was called and held an inquest at 8 o'clock and returned a verdict of death from a pistol shot wound made by a weapon in the hands of Sam Boyd. This was to cover any doubt and insure an investigation of the matter. Boyd was arrested and held on the charge.

There seems to be but little if any doubt that the killing was accidental. Mr. Buckner says there was no disturbance, no previous quarrel and he attaches no weight to the theory that Boyd could have fired the shot.

Watkins was shot under the right side of the throat, it was done with his own pistol and both Boyd and Price testify that he did it himself.

Still it was considered well enough to be on the safe side when there is the least suspicion of murder.

Watkins was a son of Stepney Watkins, of Owensboro, and was about 21 years old. He was a cripple, having something the matter with one of his hips.

The body was taken in charge by Ed. Glass, the colored undertaker.

A CHARGE OF MURDER.

The latest developments are that each of the witnesses, Sam Boyd and Joe Price, now charges the crime of murder upon the other. Price has also been arrested.

Boyd says "Crip" and Price quarreled over a watch and Price shot "Crip."

Price claims that Boyd and "Crip" quarreled and that Boyd did the shooting and then paid Price 50 cents to swear that it was accidental.

Two Previous Prohibition Votes.

Christian county had a prohibition law for something over two years. A vote was taken Nov. 2, 1886, and 2948 votes were cast for prohibition and 2870 against it. The vote in the city was 891 wet and 689 dry. The majority in the county outside the city was 275. The majority in the whole county and city 74 votes. Four saloons ran until Jan. 1, 1887, when the entire county became dry. The vote to repeal was taken March 2, 1889 and stood 3250 Wet and 2237 Dry. The city vote stood 1111 Wet to 467 Dry. The Wet majority in the county was 1013.

Eddyville Recruits.

The aggregate terms of the batch of prisoners whom Deputy Sheriff Golay took to the Eddyville penitentiary Tuesday amount to seven and a half years. Their names, offenses and terms are as follows: John Crowder, Dave O'Neal and Chas. Griffey, highway robbery, two years each; Griffey Rose, house breaking, one and a half years. Jim Kline, the murderer, was delivered to the prison authorities last week and Richard Caldwell, a two-year man, was also taken along to keep "hand-cuff company." All the parties are negroes.

Death Near Howell.

HOWELL, Oct. 23.—Little Geo. M., the 11-month-old son of Col. and Mrs. I. P. Davie, after an illness of several months, died on yesterday and was buried to-day at 3 p. m., at the home of his parents. This little fellow was a very delicate boy. His brief life was full of suffering, and death was possibly a great blessing to him and his fond parents. The sorrowing family have the sympathy of our entire community in their sad bereavement.

THE TREASURY ALL RIGHT.

Maj. Hale Gives Figures to Show That The Deficit Has Been Met.

The Frankfort Capitol gives the following interview with State Treasurer Hale:—

Speaking of the campaign work already done and being done by the nominees on the State ticket, Maj. Hale, the State Treasurer said:

"I have not been able to devote much of my time so far, to the field work of the campaign, but I consider that I have been manning one of the most important guns in the whole layout.

"The Republicans have their eyes on the Treasury and are evidently very anxious to get hold of it so as to get some of the 'pap.'

I am all right now, however; the sheriffs have responded liberally to the circular letter sent out to them early in September, and the demands of the public schools have been met, seven eighths of the October installment having been paid and county superintendents notified the remainder will be paid as the schools are taught out and reported to the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

"With the estimated $400,000 due from the banks under the late decision of the Court of Appeals paid in, which will in a large measure cover the much talked of deficit, and the heavier receipts from the sheriffs in the months of November and December, the treasury will come out on the home stretch in good shape after all.

"So I am in good spirits, both as to the affairs of my office and the prospect for the success of the Democratic state ticket on the 5th of November."

"I have an abiding faith in the good sense and sober judgment of the rank and file of the Kentucky Democracy. As the day approaches national issues vanish, and the only question for the voters to decide will be, shall we have Democratic or Republican rule in Kentucky for the next four years. Bradley's views on the money question can do them no good in the management of the public business of the state. Hardin's can do them no harm. This, from a Democratic standpoint, in a Democratic state like Kentucky, decides the question in favor of Hardin and Democratic rule, and the Republicans will have to look elsewhere for 'pap.'

"To this end I shall leave for Western Kentucky to spend the remainder of the time between this and the election among my friends in that section of the state."

Notice Filed too Late.

The voters of Lafayette, irrespective of party, held a primary election Oct. 9 and nominated a ticket for town officers as follows:

Police judge, Edwin Garner.
Marshal, S. R. Hester.
Trustees, W. P. Cooper, J. L. Thacker, J. F. Stone, H. C. Locker and W. E. Ragsdale, Jr.

The notice of nomination was not sent to Clerk Prowse until yesterday, the 24th inst., three days after the ballots were closed. The clerk declined to receive it and no town election can be held in Lafayette this year.

L. & N. Property—Painted Red.

A large force of L. & N. painters have been at work on the Clarksville and Gracey division this week putting a new coat of paint on the company's various buildings. The depot at Gracey and section houses near Clardy's switch, the depot at Julien, the one at Newstead, and the section houses and depot at Herndon have all been retouched. The depot buildings were given their usual color, yellow, and the section houses were painted red.

The November Hunt.

The Christian County Hunting Club will leave Nov. 6, for their annual hunt in Mississippi and will be absent about three weeks. Sixteen members will go this year, besides the half dozen servants. These annual outings always prove most pleasant to the members and this year's trip promises to be fully up to the standard in all respects.

Death at Cadiz.

CADIZ, Oct. 19.—Mrs. Manning, the wife of the late Harrod Manning, died this morning in the city, with a complication of diseases, aged 54 years. She was a consistent member of the Methodist church. She leaves two grown children, one daughter and one son.

Little River Gone Dry.

For the first time in many years the river has stopped running at this city. For a week it has been dry in places and now only a few deep holes remain for stock water. This may be due to the operations of the dam-builders above town, preparing for the waterworks.

Dr. Clardy to Speak.

Dr. Clardy has the following speaking appointments:
Owensboro, Friday night, Oct. 25.
West Louisville, Saturday, Oct. 26.
He also has three appointments in Hopkins county next week.
